THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR

LIMA, OHIO, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1920

PRICE THREE CENTS

OHIO FOR HARDING BY 379,000

Unprecedented Plurality Piled Up For Republicans

DAVIS HAS 133,153 LEAD

Willis Ahead of Julian by 326,412 Votes

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press.) — The Republican landslide in Ohio, which, with the count almost complete, gave Senator Warren G. Harding an unprecedented plurality of almost 379,000 over Governor James M. Cox, his Democratic opponent for the presidency, carried with it the complete Republican state ticket. A solidly Republican congressional delegation also appeared probable.

With Senator Harding leading the ticket, none of the Republican candidates for the major state offices was running less than 100,000 ahead of his opponent on Thursday morning's tabulation.

Senator Harding had a plurality of 378,892 with less than 250 of the state's 7,145 precincts to be heard from. The vote on 6599 precincts showed:

Harding 1,496,321; Cox 727,432.

For governor Harry L. Davis, Republican, had a lead of 133,153 over State Auditor A. V. Donahy, his Democratic opponent. The vote of 6599 precincts was:

Davis 824,328; Donahy 509,675.

Former Governor Frank D. Willis, Republican, with 704 precincts in report, led W. A. Julian, his Democratic opponent, for United States senator by 326,412 votes. Tabulation of 6,341 precincts showed:

Willis 892,873; Julian 566,461.

SMITH ELECTED

Harvey C. Smith, Republican candidate for secretary of state, apparently had a safe lead over W. D. Fulton, Democrat, with 4,994 precincts giving:

Smith 156,362; Fulton 511,548.

For chief justice of the supreme court, which early appeared a close race, 1,182 precincts gave:

C. T. Marshall, Republican, 478,733; Mark L. Nichols, Democrat, 478,733.

The referendum on the Crabbie prohibition amendment act was evidently favorable to its retention by a safe majority. 3,917 precincts gave the:

For the bill 233,882; against 152,222.

A strongly Republican state legislature was indicated by incomplete returns. Twenty-one of the state's 22 congressmen were definitely Republican, while in the third district Roy Fitzgerald, Republican, was leading his Democratic opponent W. C. Pickens.

WOMAN ELECTED TO CONGRESS

Former Suffrage Opponent Wins Out in Oklahoma

MUSKOGEE, Okla. — (By United Press.) — For the second time a woman will sit in the house of representatives at Washington, after Democrats Thursday conceded the election of Miss Alice M. Robertson, 55, Republican candidate for congress from the second district.

Miss Jeanette M. Rankin, of Montana, was the first woman elected to congress. She was elected in 1916.

Miss Robertson is a lawyer. She was born near here where her father was a missionary to the Indians. President Wilson appointed Miss Robertson as postmaster here.

Miss Robertson was active in state politics here. She was vice-president of the state anti-suffrage committee, before statehood. She was also active in opposing suffrage until the Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment was adopted.

During the war, she operated a canteen here where soldiers and sailors were given meals free.

HELD AS SLAYER

Auto Salesman Charged With Murder of David Paul

CAMDEN, N. J. — (By Associated Press.) — Frank James, a motor car salesman of this city who had been under detention in the Camden jail since October 17, the day after the body of David Paul, a bank messenger, was found in a shallow grave in the Jersey pines, has been lodged in the Burlington jail formally charged with the killing of Paul.

The warrant on which James is held was sworn to by Ellis Parker, Burlington detective. Parker refuses to make any statement as to the evidence, if any, he has concerning James with Paul's death. James will be given a hearing next Thursday.

Paul was taking $40,000 in cash and $30,000 in checks from a Camden trust company to a Philadelphia bank when he disappeared October 5. It is alleged James drove Paul to the Camden ferry that day. James has repeatedly denied he knows anything of Paul's disappearance.

PARIS BARBERS MAKE YOU TAKE SHAMPOO

PARIS.—Whether you want your hair washed or not in Paris you almost have to have it. The coiffeurs of the city have just decreed that gentlemen who leave their hair cut without shampooing a shampoo, as well, must pay fifty centimes more. The barbers say they are acting in the interest of personal cleanliness.

4 DEMOCRATS WIN

"SOLID SOUTH" IS SMASHED

G. O. P. CAPTURES TENN. AND OKLA.

Several Towns in Other Southern States Republican

HARDING VOTE STILL GROWS

He Is Now Assured of 386 Electoral Ballots

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press.) — Tennessee has swung into the swelling Republican columns, shattering Democratic traditions of a "solid south," unofficial, but nearly complete returns from the Voluntary state showed early Thursday.

Her shift from the Democratic ranks, coupled with similar upsets in Oklahoma, reported late Wednesday night, assured Warren G. Harding of 386 electoral votes as against 127 definitely in the James M. Cox column, and left in doubt but 18 seats in the electoral college, divided among Arizona, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, and North Dakota. In all of these states, save New Mexico, Republican managers were claiming a Harding plurality in the available returns showed a Cox lead.

TURN OF TENNESSEE

Tennessee on the face of returns tabulated by the Memphis Commercial Appeal from 63 of 95 counties, with 59 precincts missing, gave Harding 199,759 votes and Cox 159,782, a Harding plurality of 39,977. Governor Roberts, Democrat, was swept out on the Republican tide and Alf A. Taylor, unsuccessful candidate for governor against his brother in 1915, was elected.

No further actual upsets were reported from the "solid south," all the several towns in Florida, and Louisiana and several counties in Georgia and Alabama broke precedent by piling up Harding pluralities.

The Republican congressional sweep assumed larger proportions as delayed returns continued to come in. The victory of Samuel D. Nichols, Republican candidate for the senate from Colorado, assured President-elect Harding a majority of at least 10 in the upper house of these contest where senatorial choices had not been determined, the Republican candidates were in the lead in four—Arizona, Oregon, Nevada and North Dakota.

133 REPUBLICAN MAJORITY

In the fifth Kentucky, Republican leaders still cling to the hope that late returns would over come the advantage held by Senator J. C. Beckham over Richard P. Ernst, his Republican opponent.

The Republicans had a clear majority of 133 in the house of representatives with 42 contests in 16 states undetermined. Thirty-seven of these contests were in states which gave Harding pluralities of whose uncompleted vote showed the Republican candidate in the lead.

Late returns also indicated possible turnovers in cases of some Democratic representatives reported on.

A notable instance was in New York, where three Republican candidates reported defeated. By an 18th, Alvirge in the twenty-first and Rosedale in the twenty-third had forged ahead of Deolung, Donovan and McKinry, earlier reported elected.

ONE SOCIALIST

The house will have one Socialist member, Meyer London, of New York, who defeated Henry M. Goldfogle, fusion candidate in the twelfth. The prohibition party lost its lone representative, but an Independent Prohibitionist, Milton W. Shreve, was elected from the twenty-fifth Pennsylvania district.

Several notable upsets occurred in the congressional race, among them the retirement by Missouri voters of former Speaker Champ Clark of the house, and the election by Texas voters of a Republican representative, Harry Warrick.

W. J. BRYAN TALKS

Post-election developments within the ranks of the league of nations party included a tart statement from William J. Bryan in which he divided blame for the defeat between President Wilson and Candidate Cox, asserting that the former had laid the foundation for the disaster and the latter had "completed the structure."

Wayne R. Wheeler, legislative counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of America, issued a statement declaring a check of the congressional election in 40 states showed a "substantial majority" in both houses against any beer or wine amendment.

"PUSSYFOOT" HELPS IN SCOT DRY FIGHT

Seventeen Voting Areas Carried for Prohibition as Result of Campaign In Scotland—Both Sides are Elated Over the Result

GLASGOW.—(By United Press.)—Incomplete returns from Scotland's first prohibition election Thursday showed 146 voting areas continuing "wet," seventeen "dry" and 23 voting for limited prohibition.

"Wets" were elated over early returns. Indications were that the bigger industrial centers would remain wet except for a few wards. In Glasgow, according to incomplete returns, 101 out of 1,588 saloons would be forced to close.

A few sections voted in favor of a reduction of licenses.

"Drys" were almost equally elated over the results of the first election on the liquor question. They pointed to the fact that they had an entering wedge now, as they had in early days in the United States and claimed that the dry area will spread.

The campaign was hard-fought with Scottish dry workers aided by Americans among them "Pussyfoot" Johnson. Wets were well-organized and openly campaigned against prohibition, arguing principally on taxation and other economic changes, which would accompany a change in policy.

"ENTERING WEDGE"

"The result of the first prohibition election in Scotland is an entering wedge for our cause," said Dr. Aaron S. Watkins, of this city, late prohibition candidate for president.

"English prohibitionists expect all England to be dry by 1930, or perhaps before that. Our difficulty in England is that so many of the members of the house of lords are interested in breweries and distilleries. This makes legislation difficult.

"England will be the last stronghold of liquor among the British dominions. The dry movement is sweeping Canada and spreading to other British dependencies."

WEST VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — (By Associated Press.) — Returns coming in slowly from the mountain counties and from those where communication facilities are meagre, continue to maintain practically the same ratio as indicated Wednesday from the returns of the industrial centers, showing that Harding had carried the state by between 55,000 and 60,000, and Nelson, Republican, for governor, by about the same average. Also, returns from some of the mountain counties did not change materially the vote for congress, indicating the Republicans had taken the six districts. Returns from 1,435 of the state's 2,001 precincts still missing. Ladd had 16,500 and Perry 14,750.

Altho rural returns were gradually cutting down the margin, J. F. O'Connor, Democrat, still led Governor Lynn J. Frazer, Republican-Non-Partisan, by more than 8,600 votes in the gubernatorial race. Early yesterday O'Connor's lead was more than 18,000. Precincts yet to be heard from total 635.

ST. PAUL, Minn. — (By Associated Press.) — With increasing pluralities coming in for both state and national tickets, the Minnesota election turned early Thursday to the outcome of the congressional races in the seventh and eighth districts. In the seventh, Representative A. J. Volstead, Republican, had a slight lead over Rev. O. J. Kvale, Independent, endorsed by the Non-Partisan League.

Larson, Republican, was several hundred ahead of Carrs, Democratic incumbent, in the eighth. The eight other districts showed Republicans.

NORTH DAKOTA

FARGO, N. D. — Close contests for United States senator and for governor were shown on returns available here early today. Dr. E. F. Ladd, Republican-Non-Partisan, took the lead for senator from H. H. Perry, Democrat, with 1,456 of the state's 2,001 precincts still missing. Ladd had 16,500 and Perry 14,750.

BRYAN PROPOSES WILSON QUIT

Would Put Harding Into Office in December

'EXPLAINS' DEMOCRATIC FALL

Traded Ten Commandments for Beer. He Says

CHICAGO.—(By United Press.)—William Jennings Bryan here, suggested that as a result of the election, President Wilson should allow Vice-President Marshall to assume the office.

Marshall, Bryan said, should appoint President-Elect Harding as secretary of state, and then resign when congress meets in December, in order to allow Harding to start carrying out his program immediately.

The law regulating succession to the presidency, would not Harding in the president's chair if the program was carried out and Marshall resigned.

"The people are against the Wilsonian league and for the association of nations, endorsed by the Republicans," said Bryan in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

HONOR FOR MARSHALL

"It would seem proper, therefore, that the president accept that verdict and not in carrying it out by resigning at once. He surely will find no pleasure in combatting a Republican congress. He would also enable Vice-President Marshall to become president for a short time, an honor which he has well earned.

"Marshall" then should appoint Harding as secretary of state, and offer his own resignation, when the congress meets in December. The law regulating the succession would then make Harding president and with a Republican congress to support him he could carry out the Republican plan of international cooperation."

DEMOCRATIC PLANS

Bryan declared that he knew nothing of any proposed conference of Democrats to plan a new Democratic program.

"There is no doubt, however, but that there will be a conference when the Democrats have a chance to get together," he said.

Bryan declared that the result of the election would show such a conference that the leaders of the party would have to change its program.

"The Democratic party is and always has been a progressive party," he said. "The San Francisco convention did not represent the rank and file of the party. It was under a party control which had a special interest in things."

"First, the wets who sought to trade the constitution and ten commandments for beer with a kick in the pants."

"Second, Wall-st."

"Third — Idolaters and office-holders."

CAUSE OF DEFEAT

Bryan, explaining why he did not campaign for Governor Cox said it was because Cox evaded the liquor issue.

"The wets," he said, "were willing to concede the president's platform for a candidate," said Bryan, in analyzing the causes of the Democratic defeat.

"They went before the country under a false flag. Now that defeat has overwhelmed the Democratic party, its leaders must plan for the next campaign by formulating plans for protection of the people against exploitation."

"In order that this may be worked out at once the treaty and the United States' part in the world's peace must be settled at once so that the decks can be cleared for a world war."

Bryan then declared this could be accomplished by the immediate resignation of President Wilson, followed by that of Marshall and Harding's succession to the presidency.

The prohibition election results from 8 states endorsed Bryan.

"That's doing well for a beginning," he said. "It is much better than we are at the start."

of the Board of Deputy State

Supervisors of Elections.

Judge F. C. Becker won his opponent Edmund G. Dompator by 1,257; Sheriff Charley Baxter was re-elected over R. R. Crosson by 1,689; John T. Colner was elected County Clerk over Glen I. Wallace by 742; Gus Custer is returned as County Recorder over Charles R. Gordon by a majority of 169.

All other officials as shown in the list herewith will be Republican.

T. M. Berry, Democratic candidate of State Senator was defeated by Aaron L. Shaffer of Van Wert-co in the 33rd Senatorial district.

DONAHEY CARRIED ALLEN

Altho A. V. Donahy was decisively defeated in the state for Governor by Harry L. Davis, Mr. Donahy carried Allen-co by 39 votes, as indicated by the unofficial figures.

John L. Cable, Republican, for Congress from the 4th Ohio district, and Congressman B. F. Welby, both Allen-co men, were in a neck and neck race in this home county most of the way, but the final unofficial figures gave Cable a lead of 1,061.

As Republicans will have all three members of the board of County Commissioners, Craig, Gray and Thompson Gray is also elected to fill the short term occasioned by the death of J. L. Heath. Minor Crosson has been serving as a member of the board since the death of Mr. Heath, by appointment. Mr. Gray assumes office as quickly as his election is ratified by the Board of Elections and will begin his full term next September.

The result of the vote on the Crabbie act in Allen-co leaves no doubt but that the people of this county are in favor of the enforcement of the prohibition measure. Majority in favor of enforcement, 6,623. Lima helped this majority by 3,122, or about half the county total.

Senator Harding carried Allen-co over Governor Cox by 2,329.

Harry L. Davis for Governor carried Lima over A. V. Donahy for Governor by 153, but Mr. Donahy overcame that lead in the remainder of the county.

Returns from the 16 counties comprising the Court of Appeals district indicate that H. L. Conn of Van Wert, Democratic candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals, is defeated by E. N. Warden, Republican, of Napoleon.

CHARTER PLAN ADOPTED

With two precincts still unreported at noon Thursday, Third, D and Fourth J, the city charter proposal received a total of 3,542 votes for and 4,272 against, lacking only two votes of being two to one in favor. The new plan of city government takes effect January 1, 1922, and the next step is the election of a city commission of five members.

The people of Lima voted 7,268 yes and 5,939 no on the proposition to issue $100,000 bonds to purchase the county fair grounds, but this lead was overcome by the people of the county outside the city and the proposition was snuffed under by 2,232.

The total vote in the county, unofficial, was 25,500. Of this number 80 per cent are men and 20 per cent women.

EIGHT KILLED IN ELECTION ROW

PALMER ACTS TO BE PROBED

Investigation Grows Out of Prosecution of Coal Cases

FOLLOWS QUITTING OF SIMMS

Limit: s Imposed, the Assistant Attorney Claims

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — (By Associated Press) — Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, was advised in a telegram from United States District Judge A. B. Anderson Thursday that an investigation of the attorney general's connection with the case against 125 coal mine operators and miners would be made when the case is called for trial in the federal court here on November 8. Mr. Palmer was invited to be present on that date.

Judge Anderson assured the attorney general that the case of the coal miners and operators would be called on the date set, altho to date only the Indiana operators and miners and those of western Pennsylvania who voluntarily surrendered are in the jurisdiction of the Indiana district court.

SIMMS CASE INVOLVED
No indication as to the scope or nature of the investigation to be made was given in the telegram, but it was believed Dan W. Simms, special assistant counsel for the government, would be called to explain an alleged proposal in regard to the evidence in the case said to have been made by Mr. Palmer and which resulted in Mr. Simms' withdrawal from the case. It was expected that United States District Attorney Fred Vannoy, former District Attorney L. B. Stack and department of Justice agents would also be called.

The telegram said:
"Judge Anderson directs me to notify you that the case against the soft coal operators and miners United States vs. Anderson et al. will be called for trial in this court at the time set next Monday, November 8, at which time an investigation will be made in open court of certain matters involving your connection with the case. This notice is given so that you may be present if you so desire."
(Signed)

"NOBLE C. BUTLER,"
"Chief United States District Court."

COMPLAINT OF SIMMS
Judge Anderson's action was the result of the resignation on October 4, of Mr. Simms, who was in charge of the prosecution of the 125 miners and operators indicted March 11 last for violation of the Lever act.

They are indicted by a special grand jury convened by Judge Anderson December 17, 1919, for the purpose of making an investigation of the conduct of the miners' strike in the bituminous fields last November and of any possible collusion between the miners and operators in connection with the strike.

Mr. Simms' explanation of his resignation was that Attorney General Palmer had imposed limitations on the conduct of the case that "literally cut the heart out of the case."

The difference between the attorney general and Mr. Simms is said to have grown out of a disagreement as to the use of evidence in the case against the miners and operators.

FINANCIAL SHORTAGE OF CITY CLAIMED DUE TO LACK OF REVALUATION

Failure to make a revaluation of property in the county is pointed to by Mayor Frank A. Burkhardt as the reason for the present financial shortage in the city.

In a statement Thursday the mayor pointed to the city of Ft. Wayne as an example of what the condition might be in Lima had a revaluation been made.

In 1912, according to figures given by the mayor, the valuations in Lima and Ft. Wayne were practically the same, approximately $45,000,000.

"Lima's growth in population since that time has been greater than that of Ft. Wayne and the industrial growth has been equal," Ft. Wayne," Burkhardt said, "but the property valuation in Ft. Wayne has increased to $130,262,890, or more than tripled, while the valuation in Lima has increased only about $2,000,000."

As a result of this increase in valuation, Burkhardt said, the city of Ft. Wayne has been enabled to reduce their tax rate and still increase the taxes of the city almost a million dollars.

Lima will not get the benefit of property revaluation before 1922, the mayor said.

W. S. GREEN AND FORMER

HOME RULE TAX PLAN HEARD

Dayton Man Speaks Before C. C. Forum at Noon Thursday

Home rule in taxation and classification of property were advocated by Dr. Frank Garland, director of public welfare of Dayton, in an address before the noonday forum luncheon of the Lima Chamber of Commerce Thursday, at the Elks' club.

The general property tax now used was declared to be a failure. "The system has not worked," Garland said. "It was good when it was passed in 1825 while Ohio was an agricultural state, but is entirely unfitted for a great industrial state."

Garland told the forum that as a result of the present system of taxation every city of Ohio is facing a shortage of money for operating expenses in 1921. "The theory of our present taxation system is wrong, and I am here to advocate its change," he declared. He declared there is in Dayton alone from 75 to 90 millions of dollars represented in the banks and building and loans of the city on which taxes are not paid.

Garland said that while a cure for the taxation difficulties was proposed by both political parties two years ago, they adandoned it by authorizing the issuance of deficiency bonds. "This can only lead in one direction," he declared, "and that is to bankruptcy court."

Following Garland's address, D. J. Cable addressed the forum for a few minutes, in which he declared the classification of property in the state is a dead issue, having been turned down by the voters three times. He recommended a low income tax. He declared the farmers would never send for classification of property.

A committee consisting of D. J. Cable, Will Bailey, Theodore Scheid, Lee Laurot and Elmer D. Webb was appointed to represent the forum at a meeting of the council November 12 for the purpose of discussing the tax question. This committee was selected on the request of Mayor Frank A. Burkhardt who addressed a letter to the forum stating that members of the budget commission and city officials had been invited to attend.

Secretary Irving B. Lincoln announced the meeting next Thursday will be in the evening. Sherman Rodgers, editor of the Outlook was announced as the speaker, his subject to be the relation of capital and labor. Place of meeting had not been decided on.

By a unanimous vote of the forum it was decided to hold the noonday meetings at the Elks' club in the future.

NEW FEATURE IN CHURCH LIFE TO BE INAUGURATED IN EPISCOPAL PARISH

It is a community gathering intended to instill spiritual life into every person in the community and is not limited to denomination. Refreshments will be served.

The parish has arranged for a dinner and social, to be held in the parish house Friday evening of this week. Long absence of the congregation while building their new church created a desire for the dinner and social. There will be entertainment, music and dancing for those who wish. The dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Gerard Patterson, executive secretary of the diocese, will preach and conduct the holy communion next Sunday at 10:45 o'clock. He will also speak at the church Bible school in the morning. Mrs. Forster Robinson will sing the offertory solo.

SLANG GIVES 'EM "BALMY BEANS"

"Lamp the Peach" Film Means Little to Britisher.

PHRASES PUZZLE AUDIENCE

Writer Takes Exception to American Screen Language.

LONDON.—Hark to the charge of the purists of this joint language of ours.

Here in the midst of this land of a slang that is prolific but lacks the imaginative touch of the Yankee efforts, there has arisen a hue and cry against "slanguage" in the films.

"Slanguage" in the films, says William J. Locke, blocks the way of the union of the English-speaking peoples.

It's the same William J. Locke who writes good books, humorously good books, at times. He left his sense of humor at home, however, and now comes out in London, the organ of the English Speaking Union, with this:

"Nothing tends more to defeat the object of the union in this country than the super-Americanism of the language of the American films.

"Here is a cause of international friction which, with some little trouble, might possibly be removed. SLANGY SUB-TITLES

"The national life of America is being explained to England by means of the film. But the educative value of that explanation is in many cases destroyed by the semi-intelligible language in which the written part of the play is couched."

There hasn't been such a delving among Americans for Americanism since the Doughboys arrived and fables in Yankee slang were a popular feature in London's newspapers. With a wise air and a twinkle in the eye the reporters of Fleet Street have good and soundly digested the diggings of some horrible examples.

It is hopeless, says one newspaper, for a film caption writer to sling suddenly on the screen, "Lump the peach," altho the newspaper professes knowledge that this, translated, means, "Look at this pretty girl."

The audience, avers another paper, are told the tale of a Nebraska gentleman "who overplayed his hand and was waltzed off to the bone orchard."

"Apparently," read the glossary of the daily prints, "this vivid phrase means that the person in question was highly imprudent, and as a consequence lost his life."

Or again:

"The dear North grows a little doubtful when it is expected to digest such information as this: 'It was the kid's Jewish day when he was hitched,' which means that the young man's wedding day was an unlucky one."

If a plain ordinary "journalist"—to use the English word—may so far forget himself as to express an opinion, it's this:

If the Yankee films were not in words and action more broadly and farcically Yankee than any Yankee ever was in real life, some millions of "cinema goers" in Britain would be roundly disappointed. Locke may have some grounds for his kick, after all, for the printed conversational portion of films exported to Great Britain has the appearance of having been "dictated." The "slanguage" is, apparently, spread on with a trowel for British consumption.

NEW Y SECRETARY

Massachusetts Man Will Assume Membership Duties Here

Clifford S. Burns, Springfield, Mass., has accepted a call from the Lima Y. M. C. A. to work for our local association in the capacity of membership secretary, taking the place made vacant several months ago by the resignation of E. J. Schneller.

Mr. Burns comes to Lima highly recommended for his past successful interest in Y work, in which he has been engaged for the last three years following his graduation from the Y. M. C. A. college at Springfield.

During the war Mr. Burns served as a lieutenant in the artillery corps overseas.

In making the announcement of the appointment, Louis Bradshaw, secretary of the Y, said he believes they have found a man suitable for the position.

DAYTON MAN TO ADDRESS FACTORY HEADS AT "Y"

An invitation has been extended by the industrial division of the Y. M. C. A. to all foremen and heads of plants in Lima to attend a luncheon meeting at the Y November 12, when a social evening will be enjoyed.

S. C. Biddle, industrial secretary, has been quite fortunate in securing Charles R. Hook, vice president of the American Rolling Mills Co., Middletown, Ohio, to lecture on "The Key Man of the Shop."

While in Lima Mr. and Mrs. Hook will be guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Kirk O'Ferrall.

HARDING LEAVES SATURDAY

Departs for Texas on Hunting and Fishing Trip

MARION — (By Associated Press) — With only two days remaining before he leaves Marion for a month's vacation trip, President-elect Harding went to work Thursday clearing up his desk of the final leftover details of his campaign.

With Mrs. Harding, he will start at 7:30 Saturday morning for Point Isabel, Texas, where he will spend 15 days hunting and fishing prior to an ocean voyage to the Panama canal zone. He plans to be back in Marion December 6, and after that may go to some gulf coast resort for a winter to be spent in choosing his cabinet and formulating the policies of his administration.

Except for an engagement made several months ago to speak on December 5, in Bedford, Va., at an Elks Memorial service, Mr. Harding has no appointments for public speeches between now and inauguration. He may make short talks from his train along the way south, however, and may also deliver one or two addresses on particular subjects before March 4.

Thursday night Marion is to celebrate formally his election to the presidency, and several hundred people from other cities are expected to join in the occasion. There will be all the noise and red fire that his loyal neighbors and friends can produce, and many special features to give the Harding front porch and lawn one final baptism of campaign glory.

MILLIONS AIDED IN RUSSIA

Work of the American Red Cross is Reported.

USED HOSPITALS ON WHEELS

333,000 MILES COVERED BY Trucks and Service Cars.

WASHINGTON. — In furnishing relief to the needy of Russia, thru its commissions to Siberia, Western Russia, the Baltic States and Southern Russia, American Red Cross service was extended to millions, according to figures taken from the forthcoming annual report of the organization.

Sanitary trains, or hospitals on wheels, totaled 15 cars, equipped with 550 beds, with a capacity of 1,550 patients. There were also typhus trains, the work of which was chiefly preventive. The latter included 11,000 miles, bathed 105,000 persons, distributed 1,000,000 and issued 600,000 clean garments.

In Siberia alone thirty-three trains distributed the cargoes of thirty ships from America and portions of the cargoes from 92 ships from other countries. In this work American Red Cross trains covered 332,000 miles and ambulances, trucks and service cars covered 233,000 miles. The supplies distributed by these transportation activities amounted to 8,000 tons and were hauled over 5,000 miles of railroad. In the way of civilian relief in Siberia an average of seven articles of clothing was given to each of 587,000 men, 551,500 women and 775,000 children.

HOSPITALS IN SIBERIA

In caring for the sick in Siberia the American Red Cross operated 18 hospitals of its own with a total of 4,500 beds. There were in these hospitals 56 American doctors and 34 non-American; 182 American Red Cross nurses, 27 Russians, 15 Japanese and 13 Chinese nurses.

Besides aiding and discharging all these Russians, the American Red Cross rendered its regular war-time service to 13,330 officers and men of the American forces in Siberia alone. The cost of supplies issued to these troops amounted to $450,340.

To handle the work of the Siberian Commission a total of 2,667 people was required, 503 of whom were Americans. Ten thousand different articles were distributed, ranging all the way from auto-ambulances to safety pins. The total disbursement was $14,000,000.

In Western Russia and the Baltic States the work done by the American Red Cross was of a somewhat different character as necessitated less transportation. In this section the number of people relieved was 237,101 and the number of refugees cared for was 27,390. Prisoners aided numbered 2,523.

Much of the relief in Western Russia was hospital service. The work developed out of the commission for relief of Allied prisoners of war in Germany, which closed in August, 1919. During the seven months that commission operated it had charge of the feeding, health and general welfare of more than 250,000 Allied soldiers in German prison camps.

In the course of its operations the American Red Cross in the Baltic States, up to June 30, 1920, expended over $300,000 in hospital aid. Red Cross physicians treated nearly 20,000 typhus patients. Nineteen frontier and interior disinfecting stations were established with a daily capacity of 3,000 persons. Sixty-two dispensaries were aided at a cost of nearly $40,000 and treated 48,920 persons. A total of 217 hospitals and 110 orphanages and similar institutions were aided with money and supplies. Thirty ambulances were operated during the feeding in various parts of the country and carried 10,487 patients over an aggregate distance of 10,260 miles.

Ten food kitchens and 4 dry food distributing stations were operated with a daily feeding capacity of over 28,000 persons at a total cost of $405,235. The gift of clothing distributed in general civilian relief was more than $450,000.

The work in South Russia consisted largely of caring for refugees and in fighting typhus and cholera in the Crimea.

One of the most difficult tasks of the American Red Cross was that accomplished in helping the people in Esthonia, where there was absolutely no ambulance service and very little in the way of hospitals when the Germans arrived. The army was in retreat, the military was disorganized and the combined force of soldiers and civilians to the number of 20,000 was a hungry, suffering, panic-stricken mob.

In December typhus broke out and for months the Red Cross workers fought the dread disease. In the beginning the need was for cleanliness and hospital care. The dead were piled in the corners of the rooms with the sick and no effort at decent burial was made. In one hospital in Reval, consisting of a single barrack with 400 beds in one room, there were 600 deaths in one week. In spite of all this, the American Red Cross stopped the epidemic almost single-handed, and in Narva alone, with the untrained assistance of the people, treated 9,000 cases. Two American Red Cross officers, Lieutenant George W. Winfield and Lieutenant Clifford Blanton, gave up their lives in the work.

LEPER LIVING IN LONELY SPOT

Michigan Case is Segregated in Wild Tract.

FAR FROM HUMAN HABITATION

Patient Contracted Disease in War Against Spain.

LANSING, Mich. — Needed at the base of a hill near the shore of Lake Nagel, eight and one-half miles northeast of Grayling, there is a cottage of two rooms with a "lean-to."

It appeared there just a few weeks ago. In it Marshall F. Truax, of Lansing, lives far away from every living soul except one, because he is afflicted with dreaded leprosy.

In 1898 Truax, then just a strapping, entered the American army as a volunteer in the war against Spain. After the war he remained in the army and was assigned to duty in the Philippines. There he contracted leprosy, which, however, did not begin to show at once. For a time he remained at the soldiers' home in Dayton, Ohio, and later he was sent to the Government hospital for disabled soldiers at Milwaukee.

Last February Truax returned to his home here from the Government hospital. The local health authorities induced him to go back, but he did not remain long. He was back in Lansing in July, and he recently was taken by the authorities here to the site of his present home. He is being treated for his ailment by Dr. James A. Humphrey, City Health Director of Lansing, thru whose efforts Truax was placed in his present isolated but comfortable situation.

Chamula oil, being given as a remedy, comes from the tree of that name. The tree grows in the South Sea Island and is of the rubber species. This oil is now being used extensively in the treatment of leprosy.

Truax has been taking it in capsules for about a year, and Dr. Humphrey says the outward signs of the disease are disappearing.

The companion of Truax in his exile is Wendell Bixler, also of Lansing. By a ruling of the Health Board of Grayling neither of the two men is permitted to enter the town. They are not even to leave the half tract of Government land on which their cottage stands. They must remain away from all other persons. The only human voices they may hear other than their own come thru the telephone installed in the cottage.

They have a mail box nailed to a tree on the lonely road and receive the daily papers and letters. Their food supplies are delivered to them at the edge of the reservation once a week now. When winter sets in and the road must be dug out because of the heavy snows their supply will come to them from Grayling once a month. The fuel supply, consisting of coal and wood, is already in for the approaching winter.

The cottage is situated just a few rods from the edge of Lake Nagel. It is warmly built and pleasantly equipped.

Outside the surroundings are wild and beautiful. Lake Nagel is clear and about a mile across. Surrounding hills are part covered with woods.

Truax and his companion made for themselves a boat and have spent much time in fishing. This winter they will hunt over the reserve. Last week Truax says he saw three deer not far from their cottage.

Truax, who is single and about forty-five, seems to be contented with his lot, even tho he may never again have the privilege of associating with even his nearest relatives. When the Government leprosy hospital is completed on the southern coast he will probably be there in that institution. Until then the city of Lansing must care for him.

Outside the surroundings are wild and beautiful. Lake Nagel is clear and about a mile across. Surrounding hills are part covered with woods.

Truax and his companion made for themselves a boat and have spent much time in fishing. This winter they will hunt over the reserve. Last week Truax says he saw three deer not far from their cottage.

Truax, who is single and about forty-five, seems to be contented with his lot, even tho he may never again have the privilege of associating with even his nearest relatives. When the Government leprosy hospital is completed on the southern coast he will probably be there in that institution. Until then the city of Lansing must care for him.

Truax has been taking it in capsules for about a year, and Dr. Humphrey says the outward signs of the disease are disappearing.

The companion of Truax in his exile is Wendell Bixler, also of Lansing. By a ruling of the Health Board of Grayling neither of the two men is permitted to enter the town. They are not even to leave the half tract of Government land on which their cottage stands. They must remain away from all other persons. The only human voices they may hear other than their own come thru the telephone installed in the cottage.

They have a mail box nailed to a tree on the lonely road and receive the daily papers and letters. Their food supplies are delivered to them at the edge of the reservation once a week now. When winter sets in and the road must be dug out because of the heavy snows their supply will come to them from Grayling once a month. The fuel supply, consisting of coal and wood, is already in for the approaching winter.

The cottage is situated just a few rods from the edge of Lake Nagel. It is warmly built and pleasantly equipped.

BISHOP REPLIES TO NEW THEORY OF AFTER DEATH

By MARGERY REX.

NEW YORK.—Thomas A. Edison has evolved a new theory concerning the human personality and its chance of existence after the death of the body in which it dwells. In an interview recently published in a scientific magazine the inventor expresses doubt that there is any hereafter awaiting personality, or soul, as we may wish to call that part of our mental and spiritual composition.

"Our bodies are made up of countless small cells which, Mr. Edison said, die at the time of death pass from the body to take other form, thus giving the eternal life which many of us hope for. This means little to you and me," as Mr. Edison is quoted as saying, "if when we come to that stage known as death, our personality ceases to exist, our body, which combines with others to form new structures."

At first he said that he was constructing an instrument with which he expects to determine whether or not it is possible to communicate with departed spirits.

However, and however as the scientific belief may make the future for those who agree with him or are influenced by his statements, the opposite side of his argument is here given by Bishop Charles Sumner Burch, of the Episcopal Diocese of New York.

VIEWS OF BISHOP BURCH

"This is a very interesting contribution by Mr. Edison to the discussion of a subject which is before the people of today more insistently than it has been for a long time," said Bishop Burch. "I do not like to reply without giving this my long and earnest attention, but I will say this much:

"In regard to a hereafter, there could be no Christian belief that could be upheld by logic or by hope if personality ended with this life."

"I believe in the Christian idea of the immortal soul, and I believe that it would include the continuance of the personality after death. This is our reverent belief, yet we must depend on revelations, on our trust and belief in the post of the Christian religion and on what what conclusions about life's end, have reached favorable to our faith. Take, for instance, Plato and Socrates and others, not Christians at all. They did not believe that life ended at death."

"Without such belief we have nothing by which to justify life, our efforts, our suffering, our inequalities that are almost unbearable, and without reason if we cannot look forward to the immortal life of the personality."

"There is no question but that every day there are great opportunities suffered by men, women and children that no fault of their own, and if we believe in a personal God, we know that somewhere these things are regulated and recompensed."

"Mr. Edison likes to theorize, imagine, discuss his likes, thoughts and tendencies, but this article of his, when he states his theory of life is a contradiction, in itself, of the very essence of life."

"If Mr. Edison is to be believed then our world is not worth the trouble of living in it."

MUST BE HEREAFTER

"To right the wrongs we have suffered, the wrongs we have inflicted on others, to justify balance, this world of ours, there must be a hereafter. Everything leads up to it, but we can't prove it."

Bishop Burch was asked his belief in the possibility of communication with the departed. He replied that the consideration he had given the subject had afforded him no satisfaction.

"At the Lambeth Conference, which I attended in London, that topic was gone into thoroughly and the mass of evidence and studies on the subject were very unsatisfactory. We discussed it at length but got nothing out of it worth while."

"Remember, not only Christians believe in a future life. That hope is the foundation of nearly every religious belief from earliest ages. However, what I have said is merely comment on the late synopses of Mr. Edison's article as contained in the clipping you have shown me. I wish I could take time to consider the matter in order to give you an answer that would satisfy me."

MR. EDISON'S STATEMENTS

In order to give the reader a clearer idea of what Mr. Edison has said regarding life and its destination, the following excerpts from his interview are given here:

"I believe that life, like matter, is indestructible," began Mr. Edison in outlining his theory of life and death. "There has always been a certain amount of life on this world and there will always be the same amount. You cannot create life; you cannot destroy life; you cannot multiply life."

"The entities are life, I again repeat. They are steady workers, in our bodies these entities constantly rebuild our tissues to replace those which are constantly wearing out. They watch after the functioning of the various organs, just as the engineers in a power house see that the machinery is kept in perfect order."

"Once conditions become unsatisfactory in the body, either thru a fatal sickness, fatal accidents or old age, the entities simply depart from the body and leave little more than an empty structure behind. Being indefatigable workers, they naturally seek something else to do."

"They either enter into the body of another man, or even start on some other form of life."

"The entities live forever. You cannot destroy them, just the same as you cannot destroy matter."

HALT ON U. S. COAL EXPORT URGED

Secretary Alexander Would Limit Quantity Going Abroad

WASHINGTON. — (By Associated Press).—Limitations on the export of coal to insure an adequate supply for home industries and to direct the trade to countries that are natural markets for American coal and to those to which American ships sail in ballast, were advocated Thursday by Secretary of Commerce Alexander in a discussion of a national coal export policy.

When conditions return to normal, the secretary said, there is little possibility of American producers obtaining a permanent foothold in Europe and competing with the mines of England, Germany and France. For South American countries, however, he declared the United States is the logical and natural source of supply.

"Our national prestige in these countries would be increased," Mr. Alexander continued, "if the United States were looked to as a friendly and certain source for such indispensable raw material and our influence would be correspondingly increased if any drastic action was taken designed to hinder the free movement of coal to the countries."

Coal can be exported advantageously to countries on trade routes where American ships lack cargoes for the outward voyage, the secretary asserted. He urged producers and shipping interests to co-operate to this end.

WORLD VIEWS OF U. S. ELECTION

French Press Comments on the American Situation

LONDON PAPERS SATISFIED

German Publications Rejoice Over Balloting Here

PARIS. — (By Associated Press.) — Paris newspapers, commenting Wednesday afternoon on the American election, agree that Senator Harding's success is a distinct defeat for the league of nations as established by the Wilson covenant.

The Temps says: "The election may be considered as a referendum on the entrance of the United States into the league of nations, the result of which is a personal defeat for President Wilson."

La Liberté says: "American common sense has condemned Utopia in all its forms. From an international point of view, the American election day was a bad day for Socialism and the Society of Nations, the consequences of which will be felt throughout the world."

The Intransigent says: "From the French point of view it is a success. Senator Harding has often professed friendship for France, declaring that France would find in him an ally. He will not relinquish the traditions which bind the new world with France."

The Journal des Debats says: "The Republican party, fundamentally protectionist, regards tariffs not as an instrument of reprisals, but as one of protection. Such an attitude is disgusting to us."

The Petit Parisien says: "Two questions dominate the situation created by the election of the Republicans so far as France is concerned. One is the Versailles treaty and the league of nations and the other the question of tariffs."

"The first question is settled by revocability, but Senator Harding's declaration at Chicago in the course of his campaign is not reassuring for French manufacturers and exporters, as he advocated a revision of the tariff and an increase in the duties on American imports from Europe."

LONDON. — (By United Press.) — The world is tired of dictatorship and the "American people with superb political genius are leading the reaction," the London Post said Thursday.

The Post, with other London papers, expressed satisfaction over the coming retirement of President Wilson and the Democratic party. It professed to see a resemblance between the president and Nikolai Lenin, head of the soviets. "Admitting the differences between a humane man and a ruffian, but both are autocratic idealists."

Wilson's dream has been shattered. Mesopotamia, Plume, Rumania, anxious France and upper Silesia are among his legacies," the Post declared.

"To some, Wilson is a saint; to others a crank. It is now clear that Americans are not going to submit either to a saint or a crank. Their refusal to interfere in Ireland makes for cordial relations between our countries."

The Daily News saw the composition of Harding's cabinet as more important than anything else now. "The appointment of such men as Elihu Root or Herbert Hoover, will be viewed with unqualified approval, the News said, but the Borah-Johnson combination's accession to power would mean a "concentration of the isolation policy which might easily become anti-British and anti-European."

The Mail saw Cox's defeat as a condemnation of the League of Nations as constituted at Versailles, but said Harding's party is aware it must do its part, sooner or later, in settling the troubles of the world.

Harding's election was a warning to Bolsheviks everywhere, the Times declared. The Republicans are not blind to changed social conditions when dealing with important labor programs, it was said. It hoped the administration would evolve a practical scheme for a new league.

The Telegraph paid tribute to President Wilson's sincerity and declared he had done his best, whatever his errors of judgment.

The Herald, laborite, devoted its attention to the votes given Deba. Harding's administration will be a period of stark reaction, undisguised, it predicted in the "Wilson fashion of high professions of democracy."

"Harding," the Herald declared, "is the servant of big business and big business is getting ready for a big fight on labor."

BERLIN. — (By United Press.) — The German Press rejoiced over the American election, which it hailed as a defeat for Wilson. Newspapers advised their readers not to cherish excessive hopes that relations between Germany and the United States will be straightened out immediately.

The Lokal Anzeiger predicted peace soon for the benefit of American business.

Every German with political judgment greets the finish of Wilson's rule," the Anzeiger said. "We have no illusions as to Harding. We only hope for a speedy peace. Then the good old relations with return automatically."

The Vossische Zeitung said it "was no victory for Harding and no defeat for Cox, but a heavy defeat for Wilson."

The Vorwaerts speculated over the statement that no one knows exactly what Harding's foreign policy will be.

The election confirms the political death sentence of President Wilson.

the Berliner Zeitung Amittag declared. "It was decreed originally by his moral and physical collapse at Versailles. American voters apparently decided to shunt aside the Wilson system which was designated by the terms incapability, hypocrisy and un-Americanism."

Harding has declared for 100 per cent Americanism and carefully protected against any special consideration for the Germans."

SWISS COMMENT. — (By Associated Press.) — The Swiss newspapers comment sympathetically on the election of Senator Harding. The Bund considers Harding's victory "the first natural reaction against the autocratic tendencies and international policy of President Wilson."

"The American people," the newspaper adds, "do not wish a pronounced presidential policy. They are desirous of giving back power to congress, thus returning to a real democracy."

ABRAM I. ELKUS IS

APPOINTED BY WILSON

WASHINGTON. — (By United Press.) — President Wilson has named Abram I. Elkus, of the New York court of appeals, as the American member of the league of nations commission to settle the Åland Islands dispute between Sweden and Finland. It was announced Thursday at the state department.

RIDERS OF THE DAWN

The popularity of Zane Grey is not an accident. His books are universally popular and, in addition to this, so vividly is he able to "word paint" that he has been characterized as the author with the picture mind. This great story of "The Riders of the Dawn" has adapted itself splendidly to the camera and you may be well assured in advance that in coming to see this picture "Riders of the Dawn" you will be more than pleased and well paid for your time, money and trouble. Captivating Priscilla Dean stars in this production and young and old will be interested in knowing that she has succeeded best of them all in revealing in her role the true secrets of love-making right before the camera. There is a wonderful cast including Violet Schram, she of the "million dollar eyes" and as a semi-vamp, lends the blinding light of these optics to this picture. This really entertaining picture comes to the Lyric today, Friday and Saturday, and if your amusement literary permits but one picture show during these three days, you will make no mistake in seeing "Riders of the Dawn."

MEXICAN SITUATION

NOT in several years has the outlook concerning future relations between the United States and Mexico been so bright. General Obregon, newly elected President, is said to be supported by a coalition of parties and it is further stated that there is not now a rebel in the entire country—that is, none of them are working at it.

It is announced that the new government is "prepared to establish a joint arbitration tribunal to adjudicate foreign claims arising out of the revolution and to plan a national program based on order and justice." The new government assures that fear of confiscation under the laws are unfounded; that all legitimate property rights are to be protected.

What is best of it all is that the new government has a deep and lasting appreciation of the friendly attitude of the United States during the long period of trouble arising from the Mexican revolution. There is not a discordant note in the statement that has been made in Washington upon the order of De la Huerta and Obregon. Contrition for the past is expressed and good behaviour in the future is promised.

That Mexico has been brought to the point of seeing the error of her way is almost too good to be true. The regeneration appears to be both physical and mental. It is assured that there are now no rebels where many existed under the regime of Diaz. Voluntary promise has been made of reparation for wrongs to Americans and others and the future protection of all just foreign rights.

If this is all true, and it appears to be true, Mexico is in the position of offering proof of the fact that sometimes the impossible really happens.

HOOF INSTEAD OF FEET

AS the human family hadn't enough to worry about already, it is now predicted by Herbert Martin, professor of philosophy of Drake university, Des Moines, Iowa, that "man is headed straight for the hoof stage and undersized shoes are the cause."

He says the little toes of this generation are so little because the toe is in the process of disappearing and will in time be extinct. The weight of the body alone is forcing the feet of today into the narrow pointed shoe casings, Martin says and the result is that feet are losing their shape, toes are compressed, corns and callouses follow and the logical result will be hoofs, he says.

But, good folks, that's a long time away, when you have left this mundane sphere and have gone the way of all life. However, it is interesting to contemplate, that perhaps, as Martin has it, sometime in the dim and distant future, in new generations, the people will be going to the blacksmith to be fitted with iron shoes, fastened onto their feet with nails, the same as is now done for horses.

Then, the shoe man will be out of it. There'll be no cause for complaint about the high cost of leather, but it's likely that by that time somebody will have a corner on the iron market and those who go at regular or irregular intervals to be "shod," will pay tribute to the owners of the iron mines as we now give our "pound of flesh" to those who have the leather market "sowed up."

Interesting to contemplate, isn't it?

MISS LIMA: "The real definition of prejudice is when a person believes another guilty until proven innocent."

CAREFUL! NO SORE TOES

IT'S all over. The shower of ballots on Tuesday made many hearts glad and many more sad. Dame Fortune couldn't be good to everybody. Somebody had to be disappointed, as is always the case when an election is held. It is inevitable when more than one person seeks something that can be accorded to only one.

The results of Tuesday's election are now pretty well established. The winners and the losers are known. Naturally the favored ones are feeling pretty well about it, while those whose ambitions were dashed to the ground are by no means altogether discouraged. They made a good fight, but were defeated and should take their medicine in a gracious manner.

Losing out in an election is not sufficient cause for anyone to stomp around with a sore toe after it's all over. In this good land of our majority rules. There's no appeal after the voters have decisively expressed their preference. Kicking gets no one anywhere. The manly thing to do is to take the result philosophically.

There is no reason to believe that any of the defeated candidates in Allen-co will take a view of the situation other than that, but if perchance any there be, it would be well for them to get wise to themselves and decide to smile instead of scowl.

It is sincerely to be hoped that no one will stage a sore toe exhibition.

KINGS IN SWITZERLAND

RIGHT of asylum for political refugees has been highly prized in the past and England and Switzerland have been proud of the fact that all political offenders from abroad were safe on their soil.

But lately political offenders have been displaying the painful ingratitude of the serpent warned in the besom. Revolutionary propaganda fomented in Switzerland against other countries has now and then tried its hand against Switzerland itself and dispatches from Geneva report that the Swiss authorities are becoming a little disturbed over the activities of refugees of another kind.

Charles Hapsburg and Constantine of Greece are the most notable exiles now on Swiss soil. Both have lately been displaying unwonted affluence. Constantine is said to have been spending a great deal of money on professional propagandists and agitators, and Magyar royalists, with some Austrians, have been visiting Charles with increasing frequency. The Swiss are beginning to fear that the multitude of spies and secret agents from all nations which infest a Swiss territory during the war will presently return.

America is not free from these influences. Among Magyars here there are many who display royalist sympathies and the restoration of the dynasty, as a prelude or a consequence of a nationalistic war against the late subjects of Hungary, would please many of these Magyars who during the war liked to represent Hungary as an oppressed nation.

Propagandists of Constantine, of Greece, are going up and down this land, endeavoring to turn the Greek population of America against Venizelos. The Greek general elections come on November 7. If the Greeks are tired of hearing Venizelos called "The Just," the world will know it then. But apparently the partisans of Constantine have less confidence in the elections than in intrigue.

HEALTH HINTS

HOW TO PREVENT ADENOIDS

Why do so many children have enlarged tonsils and "enlarged adenoids"? And can we do anything to prevent these conditions?

The adenoid body is a mass of tissue identical in character with that of the tonsils and is sometimes called the third or pharyngeal tonsil. It would better be called the nasal tonsil. When the adenoid body undergoes permanent thickening or enlargement (hypertrophy, as doctors call it) the child has "adenoids." But let us bear in mind that a healthy child has fairly large tonsils and adenoid body, and that the adenoid tissue of round cell tissue which makes up the tonsils, the adenoid body and to a considerable degree to vermiform appendix in young persons, has a function, namely, the function of opposing bacterial infections.

The half-baked, uneducated but shrewdly calculating purveyors of plausibility who offer the gullible public all sorts of strange, new-fangled treatments purporting to be the "only correct treatment" cite the fact I have just presented to support their crafty opposition to any and all tonsil and adenoid operations. A few of them really know no better, most of them offer no objection to the necessary operation when the patient happens to be one in whom their interest is other than commercial.

Normal tonsils and adenoids serve the auto-protective function in childhood. But when tonsils or adenoids become diseased, they can no longer function and they become a menace to the patient's health and life. Conservation of diseased tonsils and adenoids is akin to saving the rotten apple in the barrel.

Every coryza (simple "cold" as the unthoughtful say), every sore throat, in childhood, being of bacterial origin makes a call for the auto-protective function of the tonsils and adenoid body. These structures temporarily enlarge or swell while the battle against the germs is on. After the battle is over and recovery ensues, the tonsils and adenoid body tend to resume their original natural state. Trend to do so, I said. If the insult is frequently repeated, if the child is ignorantly and criminally exposed to such infections as coryza and sore throat, the tonsils and adenoid body in time take on a permanent enlargement or hypertrophy. That is the simple explanation of a far too common affliction of early life.

The prevention of diseased tonsils and adenoids is therefore the prevention of what the ignorant and obstinate persists in calling "colds." Every child with even the most trifling coryza or sore throat should be kept from school and from personal contact with other children.

JUST A GIRL

BY JANE PHELPS

ZEENA MEETS AN OLD FRIEND

Two days passed before I found an opportunity to thank Mr. Claxton for the treat he had given me or to deliver Mary's message. He had been out of town the next day and then we had been so busy I did not like to obtrude anything, even my thanks.

"Mary and I enjoyed the play immensely, Mr. Claxton. She wished me to thank you for her." I said in a moment of relaxation on his part. "The tickets fulfilled their mission then. Your friend, Mary, did she really enjoy it? I can imagine she might be rather amusing at the theater."

"She was—very. She is not accustomed to see evening dress—at least, at such close range. Men and women both came in for a share of her criticism."

"Tell me some of the things she said. The work can wait a moment."

I repeated some of Mary's remarks, which she laughed heartily. "I think she is good for you, Miss Stewart—I mean that a girl of her type, one who can make you laugh, is what you need. You are inclined to be a bit serious, I think." It was said kindly, not at all in a spirit of criticism.

"Oh, she is! I think I would really have died of loneliness this past year had it not been for her. Sometimes I am ashamed of myself because of her jealousy of Tom. He is such a fine fellow, too."

"Jealousy, in what way?" "Oh, only because he will take all her time after they marry. I'm afraid." I am not really jealous—I want her to marry him and have a home of her own. But she has been my old friend."

"I understand." "I am to live with them—so she says." I added. "And to quote a favorite remark of her's, 'That will help some.'"

"Naturally!" He looked keenly at me. "You look tired, Miss Stewart. It is nearly time to stop work for the day. I'll take you home in the car."

"No, thank you, Mr. Claxton. The subway will get me home as fast as quickly, although I nearly always take the street car—the air is better."

"I wanted to say 'yes.' What tired girl would not? But I had determined to accept no favors from my employer or anyone at the office."

VARIATIONS—Mills, Milnes, Milner, Milman, Milward, Mueller, Muller.
RACIAL ORIGIN—English and German.
SOURCE—An occupation.

While the connection between the word mill and the family names of Miller and Mills is quite obvious, the connection between Milnes and Milner is most obscure.

The latter two forms of the name are the only modern survivals of the original form of the word "mill," which was "meline" or "meine." There is another connection here, too, which does not strike most people. It becomes more obvious as we trace the spelling of the word mill back to "meline," and the word meel back to its older form of "mele." The name of the article and that of the place in which it is made come from the same word root.

The family name of Miller is almost always found with the spelling "Melere" in the medieval records, and Milner is found as "Meiner." In the beginning these words were used in the purely descriptive sense, denoting the occupation of the bearer, as "Adam le Millers" or "Edgar le Meiner."

The more ancient forms of Mills and Milne are preceded by the words "atte" and "de la," meaning "at the" and "of the," denoting that the bearers of these names lived near a mill, or were actually millers.

The name Millward signifies that the original bearer of it was the warden or custodian of a mill, in such cases the owner being a member of the nobility or perchance a religious institution.

Muller and Mueller are German forms.

MARCEL'S NOVELETTE

Roger Cranford seemed to think this life had been made for him to enjoy. He was wealthy, not thru his own efforts but by inheritance. He pampered himself and was flattered by his friends—both sexes. He had too much imagination to be bored, but seldom was he very enthusiastic. One day he was informed by his lawyers that his estate was gone and that he was poor. As he came from good stock, he braced himself and went to the small town named Madison in Maine. Here he met Gertrude, who worked in the mill. Roger also got a job in another mill and he and Gertrude spent most of their spare time together. One night, while taking a walk together, he whispered in her ear: "The dawn is here for both of us. Let us live what the day brings forth—together. They were married and lived as happily as married people can live forever after."

There is no sense to the darn thing, but such is life.

Spent most of Sunday reading a very interesting astronomical article to the effect that the new star in the constellation of Cygnus, or the Swan, which was first seen on August 20 and was then visible to the naked eye, is now about extinguished and can be seen only with a strong telescope. The scientist who wrote forty or fifty thousand words on this subject tried to prove to me that the disappearance of this star will be followed by very important consequences.

I have never seen this star and I did not understand more than one per cent of the article, but if the declining of this star will bring about a decline in the cost of living or a diminishing of the social, political and scientific twaddle which is flying about us, I will be satisfied to let it go out entirely and never come back.

One newspaper is very much smoked up over the question as to whether marriage is a success. But it doesn't make much difference. People will keep right on trying it.

"THE BRANDING IRON" HERE

Declared Most Fascinating Picture in Every Way

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)

BARBARA CASTLETON contributes to "The Branding Iron" a remarkably intelligent performance. Those who read the story in this paper as a serial some time ago and remember the traits of the handsome, primitive, untamed mountain girl, Joan Carver, could not ask for a better interpretation of this role than that given by Miss Castleton.

"The Branding Iron" is a human picture. It's the well-known triangle plot worked out in a realistic manner; the two leading men are regular fellows, especially Pierre Landis, Joan's husband, who, tho in a fit of anger had branded her with his cattle brand, suffered worse than she did, after he lost her.

While Barbara Castleton isn't exactly one of the most popular actresses, her work in this production should bring her back. As the big-eyed, scared and mistreated daughter of an old mountaineer, we see her barefoot and in rags. Her marriage to the rancher, Landis, makes her somewhat better off, until her dad appears on the scene of happiness to warn the husband that:

"When you see them eyes a-staring at another man, you know what's comin'!"

The spark of jealousy thus aroused in the husband soon kindled into a flame by the attentions of the "sin-buster" who takes a fatherly interest in Joan. The branding scene, which by the way, is one of the big moments of the picture, is the result; Joan is rescued by one Prosper Gael, playwright and pagan, and believing Pierre dead lives a life of ease and comfort with her rescuer.

James Kirkwood, as Landis, is the book character come to life strong, rugged, repressed with the brooding silence and deep gaze of a man who has lived alone. His acting is one of the best features of the production. Russell Simpson as the no-good father, does splendid work, and the others in the cast are rarely efficient. The out-of-door scenes are quite beautiful and the direction is above reproach.

Altho "The Branding Iron" is seven reels in length, it could never tire you, for the action is too swift the story too real to drag for any one. It is, in fact, the most fascinating picture I have seen in months, and should prove mighty popular with you people who cry for "human" stories.

It's a Real Comedy in Two Reels

The Palace of Darkened Windows

BY MARY HASTINGS BRADLEY

But before they got to a hotel there was an obstacle or two to be overcome. A lady in Mohammedan wraps might not be exactly persona grata at fashionable hotels at midnight. Casting off the wrap Fritz revealed herself in a little poncee frock that appeared to be suitable for traveling, and with two veils and Billy's cap for a foundation she produced an effect of headgear not unlike that of some European tourists.

"I arrived on the night train," she stated as they drew up before the shining hotel. "It is late now for that night train—but we waited for my luggage, which you will observe is lost. So I pay for my room in advance—I think you had better give me some money for that—I have nothing but these," and she indicated her flashing diamonds.

"My name," said Billy, handing over some sovereigns with the first ray of humor since her revelation to him, "my name, if you should care to address me, is Bill—William B. Hill."

"William B. Hill," she echoed with an air of elaborate precision, and then, flashed a saucy smile at him as he helped her out of the carriage. "What you call Billy, eh?"

"You've got it," he replied in resignation.

"Hill—that means a mountain," she commented. "A mountain of good luck for me—Bill. And that B—what is that for?"

"My middle name," said Billy patiently, as they reached the door the Arab doorman was holding open for them.

Absently she laughed. Her dark eyes were sparkling at the vision of the safe and shining hotel, the dear familiar luxury, the up-to-date and sights of her lost Continental life. A few late arrivals from some dance gave a touch of animation to the wide rooms and Fritz's eyes clung delightedly to the group.

"God, how happy I am!" she sighed.

Billy was busy avoiding the clerk's knowing scrutiny. It was the same clerk he had coerced with real cigars to enlighten him concerning Arlee Beecher, and he felt that that clerk was thinking things about him now, mistaken and misguided things, about his predilections for the father. Philosophically he wondered where they had better try after this.

But he underestimated the battery of Fritz's charms, or else the serene assurance of her manner.

"My letters—letters for Baroff," she demanded of the clerk. "None yet. Then my room, please.... But I sent a wire from Alexandria. That stupid maid," she returned to explain to Billy, here and the last friend of outraged patience. "She is at the train looking for that luggage she lost," she added to the clerk, and thereupon she proceeded to arrange for the arrival of the fictitious maid whom Billy had agreed to go home to and fetch if she did not turn up in ten days, and to engage a room for herself in a much better room than Billy himself was occupying—then handed over Billy's sovereigns and turned happily away jingling the huge key of her room.

"It is a miracle!" she cried again, exultant triumph in every pretty line of her face. "My heart dances, my blood is singing—Oh, if I were on the stage now, the music crashing, the lights upon me, the house packed, I would enchant them! I would dance myself mad.... Ah, what you say now—shall we have a little bottle of champagne to drink to our better acquaintance, Mr. Hill?"

"Not this evening," said the unromantic young man. "You are going to sit down at this desk and draw me those plans of the palace."

"How stupid—tomorrow I will have that chance for a champagne," she observed. "You think of nothing but to go back and get killed, then? And I can't help you? Very well. Here, I will draw it for you and I will tell you all I know."

She sat down at a desk and began working out the diagrams, and at last she handed the paper to Billy, who sat beside her and pointed out the rooms and scribbled the words on them for his aid.

"It is very simple," she said. "That first square is for the court, and the next square is for the garden. The hall of banquets comes so, between them, and the hall is from the hall, and across the top of that from the hall to the hall. And at the end of it, here, is the little panel into the rose room where she is, and beside the panel outside in the passage are the little steps that go up to that tower room, where they put me on the top. And from that top room I broke out a locked door on the roof—that is how I got away. I climbed down at the end of the hall from one roof to another where it is unfinished. The rose room is here on the garden, but the windows have bars, and those bars are too strong for breaking. I have tried it. There is no way out but the secret way by that passage into the men's wing, or the other way thru the door into the long hall and down the little stairs into the anteroom below. How Scuba hated me when I made laughter and noise and talk going up and down those stairs to my motor car!"

She laughed impudently, pointing out Scuba's rooms, facing on the street, and contributing several bizarre anecdotes of the palace life, but Billy was not to be diverted, and went over the plans again and again before the dimly lighted number of lights and the coverings of the attendant. He recalled the lateness of the hour to his absorption.

But late as they were they were not the only occupants of the lift. Returning from a masquerade, a domineering man, stood Falconer, civilly enough he returned Billy's greeting, with no apparent awareness of the little lady in poncee, but Billy was conscious that her flaunting caliber had been promptly registered. And to his annoyance the actress raised his eyes of reproach to him.

"No champagne for me, after all, Mr. Hill," she sighed. "You are not very good for a celebration—h'm?"

"We then—good night."

Her parting smile as she left the car, and the tall aristocratic young Englishman with the little moustache.

Sharply Billy turned to him. "Come up to my room, please. I have something to say to you."

In silence Falconer followed. Billy flung shut the door, drew a long breath, and turned to him.

"Do you know where I got that girl?" he demanded.

He took several seconds of Falconer's level-headed look of distaste to bring home the realization.

"Oh, see here," he protested, "I will tell you understand this thing.... I pulled the girl over Keris-it's back wall at ten o'clock tonight. I thought she was Miss Beecher, but a mistake had been made and the wrong girl arrived. But the point is this—Arlee Beecher is in that picture. This girl saw her and talked with her last night. Now we've got to get her out. It's a two-man job," said Billy, "or you'd better believe I'd never have come to you again."

He had given a little punch and it knocked the breath out of Falconer for one floor instant. But he was no open-mouthed believer. The thing was more unthinkable to him than to Billy's romantic and adventurous mind, and the very notion was so out of the thing that he fought it stoutly.

From beginning to end Billy hammered over the story as he knew it, explaining, arguing, debating, and then he drew out the plans of the palace and hung them on the table for him, even sustained as he was by righteous indignation. And if there was any chance that this girl was Arlee, as this infatuated American was so furiously sure, he reflected that Billy was doing the sporting thing in giving him the chance of it.

"I'll join you," he said shortly. "I can't let it go, you know, if there's a chance of its being Miss Beecher."

"Good!" said Billy, holding out his hand and the two young men clasped silently, eyeing each other with a certain mutual respect that with no great increase of liking.

"Now, this is my idea," Billy went on, and proceeded to develop it, while Falconer carefully studied the plans and made a shrewd suggestion here and there.

It was late in the morning when they parted.

"You must muzzle that Baroff girl," was Falconer's parting caution. "We must keep this thing decent quiet, you know."

"Of course. She shan't get wind of it ahead."

"Not only that. We mustn't have talk afterwards. It would kill the girl, you know."

Billy nodded. "She would hate it, I expect."

"Hate it?" My word, it would finish her—a tale of that kind goes to her heart. She could never live it down."

"Live it down?" It would set her up in conversation for the rest of her life. That is, if it comes out all right, and that's the only way I can imagine its coming out."

With one hand on the door Falconer paused to stare back at him. "You don't mean she'd want to tell about it?" he ejaculated with unaltered horror.

Billy was suddenly sobered. "Well, nobody but you and I and the Baroff know it now," he said, "and I think we can keep the secret. You'd better get in a nap tomorrow, and I will, too, for we'll want steady nerves. Good night! I'm glad you're going with me."

"I'm damned if I'm glad," said the honest Englishman, with a wry grin. "If we get our throats cut, I hope Miss Beecher will return from the desert in time for our obsequies."

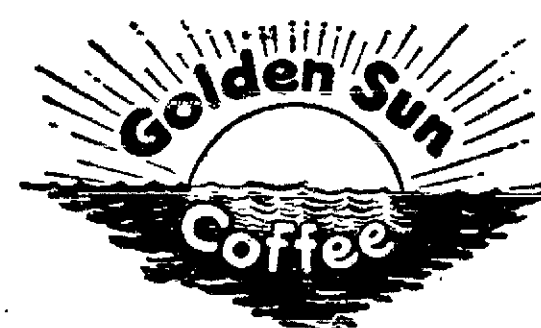

"Something in that red-headed chap I like after all," soliloquized Billy B. Hill, as he turned toward his long-delayed repose. "Hanged if he hasn't got to go into a thing on an off chance! Now, as for me, I'm sure."

Falconer said nothing. He was a very plucky young man, but he had no liking at all for strange and unlawful escapades. He didn't particularly mind risking his neck, but he liked to do it in accredited ways, in polo, for instance, or climbing Swiss peaks, or swimming dangerous currents. But he was young, and he had red hair. And he remembered Arlee Beecher. Those three days had not been happy ones

CONVINCING EVIDENCE PRESENTED BY WAYNE ST. RESIDENT AMAZES

Statement of Mrs. D. A. Conley Explains How Peppen Restored Her to Health After Long Siege of Liver Trouble and Attack of "Flu"—Recommends Medicine With Enthusiasm.

Mrs. D. A. Conley, of 905 W. Wayne-st., Lima, is enthusiastic about Peppen, says she has many a good reason to be and is not only willing but glad to tell them.

She has been sympathetic for people who may be suffering as she was and she feels that anything that she may do to help them get their life duty she can very happily perform.

Mrs. Conley is fifty years old and a member of the First Reformed church on W. Wayne-st.

It appears from her statement that an attack of the flu, following liver trouble of long standing put her in very poor condition of health, she says.

"I had liver trouble for a great many years. Then I had an attack of the flu, which left me in run-down condition."

"I had dizzy spells, was drowsy and nervous and did not rest well at night."

"Much of my housework was neglected. I simply could not do all of it. I just forced myself to do what had to be done."

"I was simply good for nothing. I got up in the morning feeling just as tired as when I had gone to bed. My complexion was sallow. At times my feet would become swollen so much that I had to wear old shoes. I lost weight."

"It is no exaggeration to say that since taking Peppen I feel like a new woman. I feel like working now. Housework is not the drudgery that it was."

"My appetite is much better. I do not have any dizzy spells. My complexion is clear. My bowels have been regular. I sleep fine."

"I go to bed at nine o'clock and sleep soundly until five o'clock in the morning. I am gaining in weight. I heartily recommend Peppen for people who are in run-down conditions."

Common sense teaches that Peppen, a rich liquid tonic composed of the oils and juices of a great many different kinds of leaves, roots and barks, preserved in a delicious, palatable syrup, is the natural medicine. It produces strength because it builds; it eliminates nervousness because it soothes; it aids catarrh, stomach, kidney and liver sufferings, because of its remarkable tonic properties.

Those who wish to try Peppen may obtain it from the Hunter Drug Co., Public Square, or from any first-class drug store anywhere. WIFE OF BARBER HAS HARD TIME Mrs. Herbert Rush Declares, However, Big Improvement Has Been Made.

Declaring that Peppen has proven very beneficial in her case, Mrs. Herbert Rush, of 176 Harrison-ave., Lima, says she is glad to recommend this famous medicine to other people who may be similarly affected.

Mrs. Rush has lived in Lima eight years. She is twenty-two years old. Her husband is a barber at 225 S. Main-st. She says:

"I had severe spells of indigestion and suffered from aching in my stomach a large part of the time."

"The disordered condition of my stomach had given me a good deal of trouble for two or three years."

"I had no appetite to speak of. I was extremely nervous and had little ambition."

"Since taking Peppen, I will say that I have not had any trouble with indigestion, and I have a better appetite and feel decidedly stronger."

"I am glad to recommend Peppen. It has proven very beneficial in my case."

Peppen coaxes health in a reasonable way. It is especially designed to cleanse while it strengthens sick, sore stomachs and thus build health thru the digestive and eliminative organs.

Just as health is the source of energy, ambition and a sense of power that enables men and women to hope and work and win, so the digestive and eliminative organs are the source of health.

NEIGHBORS ALSO RECEIVED HELP, SAYS MRS. CONN

North Union-St Resident Refers to Benefit Others Tell Her About.

"I know that Peppen is good not only from my own experience but because others who have taken it tell me they have been benefited. I have several neighbors who are taking Peppen and they all have a good word for this medicine."

So says Mrs. Conn, of 802 N. Union-st. Mrs. Conn has lived in Lima fourteen years and her husband is a carpenter employed by the Ohio Electric Company. Referring to her own experience, she says:

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years. My appetite was poor. I would have pains in the pit of my stomach after eating. Formation of gas gave me much pain. At times my hands and feet would become swollen. And I also suffered from headaches."

"I have not been troubled with gas or pains in my stomach since taking Peppen. I have been relieved of indigestion. My appetite is greatly improved."

MRS. M'KINLEY PRAISES PEPGEN

Bellefontaine-Ave Resident Says Famous Medicine Has Merited Her Endorsement.

Praise for Peppen is contained in a statement given by Mrs. J. P. McKinley, of 773 Bellefontaine-ave., Lima.

Mrs. McKinley is a member of Epworth M. E. Church and taught a Sunday school class for eleven years. Her statement follows:

"For many years I have suffered with stomach trouble."

"I had very severe attacks of indigestion. I was very nervous and could not get restful sleep. Night after night I would have to arise and sit up half the night."

"I had little appetite. I was tired all the time and lacked energy."

"Since taking Peppen I sleep much better. I have more ambition and am stronger."

"I am not nearly as nervous as I was. My appetite has been greatly improved."

"My case of indigestion has not been entirely relieved yet but I am going to continue taking the medicine as I have faith that it will relieve the indigestion just as it has helped me so much in other ways."

Peppen is Nature's remedy for the ills that result from inactive and deranged digestive and eliminative organs. Purely vegetable, delicately adapted to stomach needs, Peppen gently persuades action and assimilation.

DEMPSEY MAY FIGHT WILLARD BEFORE HE MEETS CARPENTIER

NEW YORK — Promoters of the Jack Dempsey-Georges Carpentier heavyweight championship bout denied today that arrangement had been made whereby this contest would be preceded by one between Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard. The return match between Dempsey and Willard is to take place on March 17, according to a statement made by Dempsey in Montreal.

It is known, however, that such a match has been in the making for some time, and a definite announcement is expected to follow the formal signing of the Dempsey-Carpentier contract-Friday. Willard and many of his supporters have been clamoring for a return battle against Dempsey, but tentative arrangements made several months ago were sidetracked for the Dempsey-Carpentier battle.

BOTH CAN FIGHT
It is stated on good authority that the Dempsey-Carpentier contract will permit Carpentier to engage in flistic battles in Europe, and Dempsey in America, before their clash next summer. Neither can invade the pugilistic territory of the other prior to the championship fight.

A clause will provide that in case either Carpentier or Dempsey is defeated previous to their meeting in the ring the contract which they are expected to sign Friday will become null and void.

EASTERN NAGS ENTER FINAL RACE MEET

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — The east will send out its best 2 year olds for the inaugural running of the Kentucky Jockey club stakes, a race of one mile with a value of about $35,000 that will be one of the features of the Kentucky Jockey club's impending meeting at Churchill Downs. The Churchill Downs meeting will wind up Kentucky's racing season. It will take up the better part of the first fortnight of November.

Prominent among the eastern nominators in the Kentucky Jockey club stakes are Harry Payne Whitney, Samuel C. Hildreth, Commander J. K. L. Ross, Clifford A. Cochran, J. Edwin Giffith, Willis Sharpe Kilmer, George W. Loft, A. K. Macomber, W. H. Coe, H. K. Knapp, John E. Madden, Samuel D. Riddle, J. H. Roser, James F. Johnson, Mrs. Louise Vlau, Joseph E. Widener, Larry Waterbury, Arnold Rothstein, Walter M. Jeffords, Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords, Mrs. Payne Whitney, and James W. McCallum.

It does not seem probable now that Samuel C. Hildreth will be able to get his $150,000 Frazz Jock colt Incheape to the post again this season. Incheape fell lame at Saratoga shortly after he came into Hildreth's possession and he has not so far been a profitable investment. But Hildreth has a distance running youngster of rare merit in Grey Lag, winner at Belmont park of the Champagne stakes. Max Hirsch, the purchaser and developer of Grey Lag and sold him to Hildreth for $50,000. Grey Lag is in fine form.

At Football Camps

COLUMBUS, O. — The climax of the week's practice was reached Wednesday when the varsity was given the stiffest scrimmage since the Chicago game. While offense and defense. While much time has been spent on the forward pass, Willie has not lost sight of the need of a strong line-backing team and worked his men in that department tonight.

Blair, an end, was used at half back and made a good impression, showing uncanny abilities. In turning his way thru the line. Several changes in lineup may be necessary for the Michigan game, due to an injured shoulder which Tackle Spiers received in the Chicago game. It was not thought at the time the injury would bother him but he has not been out to practice this week, and may not be able to get into the game Saturday. Willie may shift either "Barnes" Taylor or Trotter from guard to fill the vacancy or may use Jackson, a promising substitute tackle.

WISCONSIN

MADISON, Wis. — Long hours of scrimmage and signal practice have been the lot of the Badger squad this week and reached the high point Tuesday. Classes being dismissed on election day gave Coach Richards the entire day to work the team. The forenoon was devoted to a dummy scrimmage against freshmen Minnesota formations and light signal practice. This was continued in the afternoon and followed with a heavy scrimmage. The squad worked both defensive and offensive plays against the Gopher shift for about two hours.

Capt. Weston probably will not play Saturday. Thell, the other end, is also unable to stand scrumage, but Knapp and Barnes have been working well at ends.

INDIANA

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — Every Indiana man with the exception of Cloyd France came out of the Northwestern fracas in fair shape. France, the line "flud" of the season is unable to practice because of a foot injured last week, which was made worse by his playing in the Purple game. It has now developed into an infection and may keep him from playing until the Purdue game. Not for an instant resting on its laurels over the hard won victory from Northwestern, Steinh has begun preparations for Notre Dame. Because the Crimson made several costly fumbles against the Purple, one in which resulted in a touchdown, Steinh has taken his protégés back to the fundamentals and there will be no scrimmage until the last of the week.

O. N. U. MEETS RIVAL TEAM SATURDAY

ADA — Disregarding the fact that there has been a continual rain and a heavy field for the past few days, the Ohio Northern squad is being sent thru daily workouts in preparation for the Wittenberg game Saturday at Springfield.

Concentrating on a stronger defense and covering up the weakness shown last week in the game with Kenyon, altho his team won, Coach Bolen is driving his squad hard. Practically every man is in good condition with the exception of Hiltner, the mainstay of the backfield, who sustained a badly bruised shoulder.

The entire squad is working hard to be in the best condition to try to stamp out the humiliating defeat of last year handed out by Wittenberg. Much joy was shown thruout the team and its followers over the return to practice of quarterback Harper who has been out with an attack of tonsillitis. He is expected to be in the game Saturday in all his old time form.

Coca Bolen considers this game the climax of the season and with his team in there with the fight they are capable of pitting out, expects to give Captain Etter and his clan a go for honors.

MORE HORSES ENTERED IN FALL SHOW

NEW YORK.—An aggregate of 1,520 horses has been booked for the National Horse show at Madison Square garden Nov. 15 to 25. This is 25 per cent more than last year and exceeds by the same ratio any year's entries since 1913. The increased support given to indoor polo, the military classes, the new classes for children to ride and drive and the new saddle horse classes is the cause of the increase of entries.

There are 533 entries for the classes in which officers of private and uniform are to compete. Gen. John J. Pershing, who has taken a box for the show, has made four entries, one his favorite charger, Jeff, a brown horse he rode in France. His entries will be ridden by his personal military aid, Capt. J. B. Queckbarn.

MILITARY CLASSES

The military classes include the new ones for artillery teams, in which six horses will sullop with heavy guns as they did in France, and classes for the lighter and faster machine gun cart teams. The entry is from the Army team that did so well at the Olympic games, but while the horses will be the same the drivers may be different. There are also artillery and cavalry entries from Camp Knox, Camp Pike, Fort Meyer, Fort Ethan Allen and from West Point.

There are twenty entries in each class for polo ponies suited for the game outdoors and some of the indoor polo mounts reappear as entries, but ponies seasoned in the game on Long Island and other nearby fields predominate.

Two new classes are polo mounts owned by the United States government or officers of the regular army. The first prize in each is a $100 cup given by R. E. Strawbridge and W. Averell Harriman. There will be four polo pony breeding classes to be shown to halter.

Jumpers are to have seven special contests, in addition to the classes for hunters in which they are eligible.

ILLINI SEES HARD FIGHT WITH CHI

URBANA, Ill.—Dexterous manipulation of Maroon strategies by the Illini freshmen Wednesday deepened the uneasiness which is felt in the orange and blue camp regarding the engagement with Stagg's men. Fred Majors, the yearling, raced thru the variety from a Maroon formation midway, passing frequently to make Zupke feel right.

Laurie Walquist, Al Mohr and "Evie" J. Ostrom, the three side line regulars, were withheld from scrimmage, but lined up for a brief signal drill. As this was the final scrimmage night they will have no actual workouts for the encounter with the Maroons.

EXPECT GRILLING FIGHT

The Illini are nerving themselves for a desperate struggle, convinced that Chicago will play its greatest game. Even with the championship teams the Illini never have found it easy sledding against Stagg's eleven, and the possibility of a reverse Saturday is admitted. It is figured that Chicago will be able to put up a stiff defense against the Illini forward pass attack, and it is realized that Carney will be a marked man.

ALL TICKETS ARE SOLD

Director Huff last night announced that all the local allotment of seats had been sold and that it would do no good to send in orders. Zupke will hold a light drill here this afternoon and then enter with twenty-five players for Chicago.

PURPLE RIPS FROSH THRU DUB GAME

CHICAGO — Northwestern varsity made consistent gains thru the freshman team during the hour's scrimmage Wednesday. Graustein and Szold performed especially well. The former was able to see better out of his right eye. He received a deep gash in his forehead, when somewhat obstructed sight, in the game with Indiana.

After dinner the members of the team were guests at an athletic association meeting at Hadden gymnasium. Because of this skill practice was dispensed with by Coach McDevitt.

McDevitt and Assistant Coach Sawtelle spoke at the meeting, and great enthusiasm was raised among the students for the homecoming games with Purdue Nov. 15. Members of the association and other student officials are endeavoring to make the homecoming this year one of the largest ever had at the home of the Purple.

Jack Hathaway, captain of the wrestling team and center on the football squad, gave a wrestling exhibition, as did other students at the smoker. Boxing matches also entertained the men.

ADA HI CLAIMS THE BEST TEAM IN NORTHWESTERN OHIO

ADA — One of the most promising high school football teams in this locality is the Ada High School team which is expected to put in a claim for championship in the Northern Ohio Division of high school football.

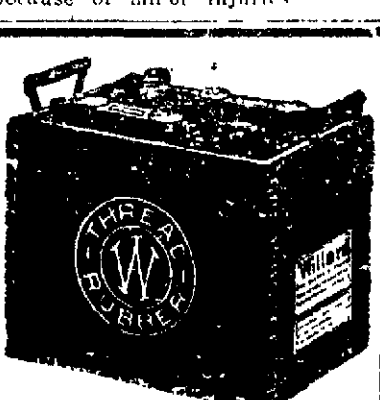

After having defeated in their last game the heavy Findlay High school team by 20 to 0 score, the team as a whole feel highly elated over their success. They have not as yet had their goal line crossed and have succeeded in piling up a total of 270 points, an average of 54 points a game.

In general, the team plays as one services of Center Larson and Guard Smith. Both were injured in the West Point game and have been ordered to discard their mole skins for ten days at least. Smith was hurt on the first play of the Army game but fought thru the contest. The proposal from Georgetown for a post-season game with Notre Dame on December 4 found no favor here. Rockne said that by that time his men would be tired and would not merit a loss. Rumors of a Penn State-Notre Dame game could not be confirmed.

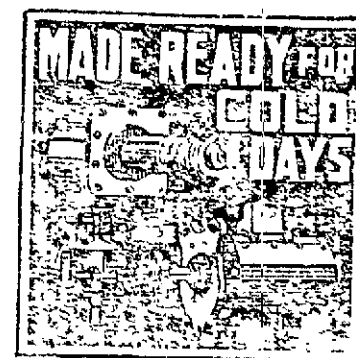

MINNESOTA

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — The Williams was anything but pleased with his coaches this afternoon after he had driven them thru a grueling scrimmage with the freshmen. This was evident by the mentor's actions in shifting his athletes around. He tried Donald McClintock out at fullback in Rubin's place and used O'Brien, Gilstad Cooper, and Wehlen at Akberg and Agberg and Tieney were out in uniform today, but were kept idle because of mild injuries.

SCHOOL GIRL WANTS TO BE SNAKE CHARMER

CARLINVILLE, Ill.—Louise Graham is sixteen years of age and pretty and well up in her studies at school. But Louise has a penchant for snake charming, and every time a carnival would leave the town she would follow the girl would forsake her family fireside. Invariably the girl would find herself stranded in the next town. But she stubbornly announced her intention of repeating her performance until the day she became one of the beautiful women who handle the reptilian monsters. Authorities took Louise in custody and decided to send her to the training school at Geneva. They have the word of local nose-rouge specialists that snakes haven't been seen there since the days when the Volstead act was merely a discredited rumor.
